

GWEN, AMBER & STACEY - Synopsis

Gwen is a, attractive, naïve, lonely 20-something who can't seem to find the right guy. She's had some bad relationships in the past, and can't seem to find her perfect Prince Charming.

One night, she meets Mike in a local bar. He's funny, sweet, and seems absolutely perfect. Against her better judgment, (she's a "good girl,") Gwen goes home with Mike to the home he is remodeling.

To her surprise, a relationship blossoms. One, two, three perfect dates shortly follow, with an amazing sexual chemistry between the two. Gwen has long acrylic nails, and Mike practically worships them. Gwen is smitten. Her only complaint is that she sleeps poorly in Mike's house due to strange scratching noises within his walls. Finally, she's found a man she can be herself around, and not constantly worry about whether or not she's pleasing him.

After the third date, Gwen, feeling comfortable, suggests that instead of sex, she and Mike simply cuddle. Mike agrees, somewhat put off. He brushes his teeth, then strangles Gwen to unconsciousness with his belt.

Gwen wakes up, bound, gagged, and sealed inside one of the walls Mike is remodeling- along with several other dead and/or dying girls from Mike's past- all with beautiful long acrylic fingernails. She can't scream, she can't move- all she can do is make a faint scratching sound barely heard on the outside of the wall, and hope that the Next Girl is smarter than she was...
